

Insured during the internship

If you undertake a mandatory internship as part of your degree programme, your health insurance will continue with TK. In the case of internships that are not mandatory, the same rules apply as to jobs alongside of degree programmes.

Mandatory intermediate internships

Intermediate internships are mandatory vocational activities undertaken during a degree programme and stipulated in the relevant study and examination regulations.

Since you stay registered at university or college during these internships, you remain insured under non-contributory dependants' insurance or student health insurance cover regardless of the duration of the internship and the weekly working hours.

This also applies to students from a foreign university or college who undertake an internship in Germany.

Income limits for students with non-contributory dependants' insurance

Be aware of the income limit. Anyone who regularly has a monthly income of more than 470 EUR must take out insurance themselves: either student health insurance cover or – for example, from the 30th birthday – as a voluntary member.

Contributions for students who are subject to compulsory insurance

Health insurance	76.85 EUR a month
Additional contribution	9.02 EUR a month
Long-term care insurance	22.94 EUR a month
for those over 23 without children	24.82 EUR a month

You pay from the age of 23 an additional contribution of 0.25 per cent for long-term care insurance as long as you have no children.

Earning money during the pre- and post-study internship

You are not registered at a university or college during a mandatory pre- or post-study internship as part of your degree programme or examination regulations. If you are paid for the internship, you must take out insurance yourself as an employee in health and long-term care insurance and in a pension and unemployment insurance.

Is the pre- or post-study internship not a part of your study and examination regulations? In that case, you only need to take out insurance yourself as an employee if you earn more than 450 EUR per month – i.e. the internship is no longer considered a mini-job.

Unpaid pre- or post-study internships

A special provision applies if your internship is mandatory within the examination regulations and you do not receive money for it: You will be compulsorily insured as an intern – unless you have reached the age of 30 or are covered by dependants' insurance.

You will have to pay the contributions for insurance as an intern yourself. They are exactly as high as the contributions for students who are subject to compulsory insurance (see table on the left).

The special provision will not apply if your unpaid internship is not mandatory within the examination regulations. Your existing insurance cover will usually not change in this case.

Important information for international students

Are you a student from an EU member state, an EEA state, Switzerland or a country Germany has entered into a bilateral social security agreement with? In that case, we ask you to inform us before you start a work placement or internship. We will be pleased to find out about the effect on your insurance cover.
